Local Florist helps to brighten Rockingham Kwinana's Emergency Department

Every Friday the Rockingham Beach Florist generously donates a beautiful floral arrangement to the Emergency Department (ED) at Rockingham Kwinana District Hospital (RKDH).

ED Acting Clinical Nurse Specialist Nicole Larkin said the special delivery brightened the week for staff and patients by adding colour to the ward.

"We love having the flowers delivered to our department each week. It creates a happier atmosphere and helps patients to feel more at home," Ms Larkin said.

"The staff on the ward would like to thank Rockingham Beach Florist for their ongoing contribution to our workplace," she said.

Rockingham Beach Florist owners, Sue and Michelle, said they enjoyed contributing to the hospital with their ongoing special delivery.

"It's important to support your local community any way you can, which is why we have chosen to make this delivery to our local hospital each week," Sue said.

"It's nice to add a bit of colour to the room, and a colourful floral arrangement is always beautiful to look at," she said.

The arrangements change each week and are made up of everything from lilies and gerberas to roses and sunflowers.
